War Front and the Information War For and Against Corruption

Stupidity is one folder I have included about Texas and its religious communinities conducting their "investigations" or those not "saved by Jesus" and I have much more than what is on this disk and in that directory but the excuse making of me being a threat to slander was in part about Atheism versus religion. It was asserted I had an a addition to women because Jesus had not removed temptation from me. This as far as I know first said about me in the First United Methodist Church of Corpus Christi. LIke my brother's and I think Penney Ashley's Methodist Church in Arlington, VA (I was trying to get away from) the assertion was I had been caught in a sting operation. NOT true and what they were alledging my interest was (hard candy pretty-baby rich white girls from upscale homes) were served to me as my treat since they were then "legals." While I knew all that-was a fraud I was doing what I always did and attempt some learning. "Feeds" are where church groups offer meals to the homeless etc., and they offered bible studies. With little else to do I thought it might be a good time and relatively safte to stay for the serman after the feed and just see what it was all about though saying I was an atheist oberver, though keeping my views to myself as politeness. They the United Methodists changed their bible study to "overrcomers" from their addictions as asserted I had addictions to their parishners. This was not true and while in South Texas I could not get throught to them I was writing on MK-Ultra history and being framed beause of that. As of Feburary 2026 I may send an update to them even though I left long ago, but have not been able to alter thier conduct of frame jobs. Jen Moore asserts the same thing I do.

Dupes and Provocatuers to Bully over and Hint At untrue allegations is similar to Dirty Polling

Are there well known cases false allegations against one politician have been funded or encouraged by a competing politician?

> Yes — but the “cleanest” well-known examples are usually (a) push-polls / dirty-dialing (campaign-funded calls that plant a damaging claim framed as a “question”), or (b) intra-party faction fights where one bloc funds/encourages a narrative later found to be false/defamatory. Truly proven cases where a named rival politician directly bankrolled a knowingly false personal allegation are rarer than people assume, because they’re often routed through consultants/PACs and end up as allegations about who was behind it.

Here are several well-documented cases that fit your “funded or encouraged by a competing politician” idea (with clear notes about what’s proven vs disputed):

1) 2000 South Carolina GOP primary: “McCain illegitimate Black child” push-poll (widely reported; attribution contested)

During the 2000 Republican presidential primary in South Carolina, voters received calls asking whether they’d still support John McCain “if you knew” he had fathered an “illegitimate black child” — leveraging the fact that McCain had an adopted daughter from Bangladesh. This is a classic example of a campaign “push poll” used to seed a false insinuation. (abcnews.go.com)

What’s not fully settled: reporting and commentary have long debated who specifically ordered it; some accounts attribute it to operatives aligned with George W. Bush’s effort, while prominent figures (e.g., Karl Rove) have denied involvement. (thenation.com) So: very well-known “rival-funded/encouraged” smear mechanism, but ultimate authorship is disputed in public record.

2) 2013 Utah AG race: investigative report described a rival-linked push poll (documented in official legislative investigation)

In Utah politics, a Utah House investigative report described evidence that a consultant associated with then–Attorney General candidate John Swallow (and acting with campaign “acquiescence,” per the report) authorized a push poll aimed at rival Sean Reyes, using “would it influence your vote if you knew…”-style prompts about inflammatory accusations/rumors. (le.utah.gov)

This is a strong example because it’s anchored in an official investigative document describing the alleged campaign-linked mechanism, rather than just press speculation.

3) 2020 Utah governor GOP primary: campaign-confirmed “message-testing” survey accused of being a push poll (campaign funding acknowledged)

In a later Utah example, reporting described “dirty dialing”/a survey that opponents criticized as a push poll. The campaign in question confirmed it was responsible for the survey while disputing that it violated the law or that it was a push poll. (sltrib.com)

This one is useful as a modern, clearly campaign-funded case, though whether the insinuations were false depends on the specific claims tested (and the story frames it more as controversy than adjudicated falsity).

4) UK Labour factional conflict: leaked dossier led to settlements over “false allegations” (intra-party political rivals)

> Not exactly “candidate vs candidate” in an election, but a prominent example of political rivals inside the same party: a leaked internal dossier during Labour Party (UK) infighting contained accusations that multiple people said were false and damaging; Labour later settled claims (defamation/data/privacy) with a number of individuals, and reporting notes allegations in the dossier were described as “wholly untrue” or “false and damaging.” (theguardian.com)
> This fits your “funded/encouraged by competing politicians” pattern in the sense of factional political competition rather than opposing parties.
> # A quick reality-check: why you don’t see tons of “smoking gun” examples
> Even when a smear is effectively backed by a rival politician, the funding is commonly buffered through:
> - ➜ consultants/vendors,
> - ➜ friendly PACs / third-party groups,
> - ➜ donors operating “independently,”
> making direct attribution to “Politician A paid for false allegation X” harder to prove unless there’s litigation, leaks, or an official investigation.
> If you tell me which country (and whether you mean sexual misconduct allegations, corruption claims, personal-life rumors, etc.), I can pull a tighter list of the most comparable, best-documented examples in that context.

Jen Moore asserted to silence Whistleblowers a scheme of false allegations and thug attacks drive biograhical writers into homelessness and the hospital.

Sam Lombardo is accused(falsey) of the rape of a teen.

In Wild Things, Tom Baxter’s occupation is that he’s an attorney (a lawyer)—specifically portrayed as the lawyer representing Sandra Van Ryan (the “client” reference is explicit in character descriptions). That’s why the judge snaps “you are not trying this case”: Baxter is a lawyer, but not the trial attorney handling that courtroom proceeding, and he’s trying to object / insert himself anyway.

At 28 minutes 30 seconds on in the Amazon Prime version (theatrical most likely) a sequence of scenes unfold very similar to what I have epxerienced.

Wild Things is a 1998 American erotic thriller film directed by John McNaughton and starring Matt Dillon, Kevin Bacon, Neve Campbell, Denise Richards, Theresa Russell, Robert Wagner, and Bill Murray. It follows a high school guidance counselor in South Florida who is accused of rape by two female students and a series of subsequent revelations after a police officer begins investigating the alleged crimes.

In the upscale Miami suburb of Blue Bay, wealthy student Kelly Van Ryan (represented by Tom Baxter) accuses her high school guidance counselor, Sam Lombardo,, of raping her. The allegation is untrue. The father though is very powerful.

Parking attendent at lunch spot to Sam: I'm afraid I can't park your car today.

You can't park me?

I'm meeting Barbara for lunch.

Tom Baxter to Parking Attendent: Can you get this parked, Georgie?

We're running late.

Right away, Mr. Baxter.

Tom Baxter to Sam: You're finished here, Lombardo.

Take a hike.

Barbara Baxter to Tom Baxter: let's go [in to dine].

Talk to me.

Maybe you didn't hear me, Lombardo.

You're finished in Blue Bay.

I find you around my daughter again, you'll be finished, period.

Get the fuck outta here.

Mr. Lombardo, please.

That's all right, George.

Driving away Sam Lambardo is run off the road by a thugh. WHen Sam Lombardo emerges unhurt the thug attacks violently.

Are you all right?

Huh?

- I'm fine.

That's too bad, motherfucker.

> Who Tom and Barbara Baxter are meant to represent
> In Wild Things, Tom Baxter and Barbara Baxter are essentially:
>   Wealthy, respected members of the local upper-class community
>   Part of the “country club” social circle that dominates the town
>   People whose influence comes from status and social power, not from legal authority
> They are not major plot drivers, but they serve an important thematic role.
> Their role in the scene you describe
> The moment where the alleged rape suspect (Sam Lombardo) is made unwelcome in public spaces is an example of community-based punishment:
>   The Baxters (and others like them) act as informal gatekeepers

  They signal that Sam is now socially “untouchable”

  The message is: even before the courts decide, society has already judged you

This is a form of social blacklisting — essentially exile through reputation.

What they symbolize in the film

Tom and Barbara Baxter are less “characters” in the traditional sense and more symbols of:

  The town’s elite: they represent the wealthy class that controls public perception.

  Reputation as power: in Wild Things, scandal is as destructive as crime.

  Hypocrisy and moral posturing: the film repeatedly shows that the people acting morally outraged are often complicit in darker truths.

Why they feel influential despite being minor

Wild Things uses characters like the Baxters to show that:

  The real pressure on Sam isn’t only police investigation

  It’s also the crushing force of public opinion

  The community is quick to condemn, especially when wealth and class are involved

> So even though they’re not central players, they function as part of the film’s critique of small-town elitism, sexual scandal politics, and social justice vs. legal justice.

Following the accusation, her outcast classmate Suzie Toller, who comes from a poor family in the Everglades, makes a similar accusation. Sam hires attorney Kenneth Bowden to defend him. At trial, Suzie succumbs to pressure during cross-examination and admits that she and Kelly concocted the false allegations to get revenge on Sam. Suzie was seeking revenge for Sam's failure to bail her out of jail on a minor drug charge, and Kelly was seeking revenge for Sam's affair with her mother, real estate heiress Sandra Van Ryan.

Susie Toller as Medea according to her movie lines

The story opens after Jason has abandoned Medea and their children to marry Glauce, daughter of King Creon. Medea, consumed by grief and rage, plots revenge. She persuades Creon to allow her one more day in Corinth, then kills Glauce and Creon with a poisoned robe and crown. In a final, shocking act, she murders her own children before escaping to Athens in a chariot provided by the sun god Helios. As Susie Toller sails away on the boat after killign the others wealthier than herself she compares herself to Media and the revenge for her poverty moive.

Gaslighting as evidence fabrication

Entering my apartment or even a very simlar apartment without me there means uncontested identity theft. Stealing clothiing from my apartment or placing items from others near me or into my apartment. Created dialogue or role-players and imposed ambiguous conversations, all of these dirty tricks setup confusion as to real events and often created the basis to steal my ID and then in my ID ask for my trust fund usage.

> What you wrote is essentially describing a key idea used in investigations, forensics, and evidence analysis:
> Partial ID is not the same as a unique identification
> A partial ID can include things like:
> - ➜ A fragment of a fingerprint
> - ➜ Clothing similarities

- ➜ Approximate height or weight
- ➜ Vehicle color and make

These details can be useful, but they are not unique enough on their own to prove something belongs to one specific person or object.

Why corroboration is necessary

Because many people (or things) can share the same traits, partial identifiers must be supported by other evidence, such as:

- ➜ Full fingerprint matches
- ➜ DNA evidence
- ➜ Surveillance footage
- ➜ Witness testimony
- ➜ Unique markings or serial numbers
- ➜ Multiple consistent data points

Core principle

A partial match is only a lead, not a conclusion.

Your sentence captures this well:

“…this may not be unique to any one person or thing, and need corroboration.”

That is exactly the reasoning behind avoiding false certainty in identification.

If you want, I can help you polish that into a clearer or more formal statement (for a report, class, or writing), or help connect it to whatever work you’ve been behind on.

This allows for conflation with Infomration Dopplegangers very easily. I have written it is a bit like voodo dolls, using the doll as a cut-out for the real person. The identity theives are me are "gullibles" who fall for miscondcut-traps laid before them and then are caught in the trap, buying their way out of it using my trust fund.

We all owe a debt to the millions of persons imprisoned by the corrupt criminal justice system worldwide, for they have surrendered their lives so that we may pompously pursue our demented imaginings on the progress of a failed civilization. --Geral Sosbee

Sosbee

As Sosbee has previously reported, FBI agents, operatives and thugs stalk and harass him (see My Story in Detail at http://www.sosbeevfbi.com/mystory.html and updates at http://www.newciv.org/nl/newslog.php/_v194/) 24 hours a day 7 days a week without end. This monitoring of Sosbee's every move is accomplished by a tracking device (or other shielding experiments) implanted in Sosbee and monitored by the thugs. (also see Ted Gunderon, Ed Donegan, others report being assaulted by police and community organizations backed thugs)

On 4-23-02 (3-4 pm) the following described individuals, operating a late model, white vehicle (possibly a Toyota), California License Plate # 4VDD501, followed Sosbee all day:

Suspect #1: White male, 5' 10" 140 lbs., 25 years, goatee, brown hair, brown eyes.

Suspect #2: Hispanic male, 5' 8" 160 lbs, 27 years, black hair, brown eyes.

The two thugs parked their undercover vehicle at the parking lot adjacent to 3807 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Ca., followed Sosbee into the "New York, New York" Cafe and assaulted Sosbee who was seated at a table.

The Los Angeles Police Department and the California Department of Motor Vehicles unofficially confirm that the license number 4VDD501 cannot be traced because it is an unregistered plate vehicle.

Los Angeles: June-July 1999, individuals with the following vehicle plates stalking Sosbee: California 3SHV090, LOCAVD. Dallas Texas (1998) individuals (fbi operatives) stalked Sosbee in a vehicle with plate: Texas NKZ621 (non traceable). IMHO.

From Brownsville, Texas

SPECIAL NOTATION:

Every state in the country provides the fbi and other secret police agencies with non-traceable license plates so that the identities of the thugs and assassins cannot be easily determined.

Over the past four years (as of October, 2002) Sosbee is targeted non stop for similar assaults every where he goes, as a part of the fbi's "Non-consensual Cover Research" program to neutralize him. The life that Sosbee is leading is however, infinitely more enriching and fulfilling than the lives of the tormentors; while this gives Sosbee no joy or consolation, the thugs and assassins are on notice that they offer nothing constructive to the world and that their life's work will someday be an embarrassment to humanity.

The USA as a country is a sewer of cowardice and corruption. While Tom Dunham and I and Jen Moore and others tried to get the truth told about the USA we have not been able to get through the layers of feeces the US reprents. I have attempted contacts to Russia and will see where they lead. I have on single goal in life and that is to step into a library in Russia or Iran and know that I am not in the USA. That before I die.

Dr. Alathari of Sequioa Plaza based Mental Health services was named a 2020 Safety, Security and International Affairs Finalist for the Samuel J. Heyman Service to America Medals, and was the recipient of the 2019 Secret Service Director's Team Impact Award, the 2019 DHS Secretary's Meritorious Service Award, and the 2015 DHS Law Enforcement Information Sharing (LEIS) Visionary Award. Dr. Alathari's previous experience includes mental health treatment, behavior analysis, and crisis intervention. Immediately prior to joining the U.S. Secret Service, Dr. Alathari worked at the Northern Virginia Mental Health Institute, an inpatient state psychiatric facility, where she oversaw the behavior management program for patients who posed a risk for violence, self-harm, and suicide.

Notes on library facilities access in Texas

After extensive violent attacks, slanderous treatment of me acted-out by role-players, and other harassing conduct in Texas libraries I asked NRA members (armed) to come to my side as I attempted to research my book, using printing equipment for creating excerpts and mailers, etc., and in those libraries like most places I was in fear for my lives as plants of people fiennging to me victims of my missuse of the libracy acted out bulling treatment of me.

I was ordered out of the library and warned not to return and I never would without a firearm or someone with a firearm. I have hoped for better in Dallas if I moved there but I would not expect it in Texas. Gereal Sosbee has written on the CIA Family Jewels program of the FBI and CIA. A Vietnam veteran, former FBI Counter-Intelligence FBI Special Agent under J. Edgar Hoover during the Cold War, and now a victim of thugs has had the same experiences. Living in Texas without library facilities and the level of death threats I have receive ad police backed break-ins to my home, faked rental records, cuts to the wiring of the buildings I have lived in and around the clock noises to keep me awake are the norm.

Not having library access in Texas is another factor I need to weigh as well as housing safety I have not found.

THE HIDDEN EVIL: THE FINANCIAL ELITE'S COVERT WAR AGAINST THE CIVILIAN POPULATION

By Mark Rich

If most people knew that a handful of unelected people were running their government they would probably be outraged. While most members of some of these elite organizations may not be aware of their true objectives, there is an inner- core that is.

This [hidden black opps mafia] organized crime network prefers to remain behind the scenes. But its existence is not completely hidden.

By incident, or accident, people such as targeted individuals, corporate/government whistleblowers, and others, have directly experienced how government really works [utilizing criminal acts and espionage allies] and who [as very high ranking public officials] controls it. Their experience on the front lines has given them insights into impending situations that the general population is not yet aware of. [nor is the public aware of how many illegal rackets and illegal markets are under direct control of profit seeking mafia abusing non-investigatory Targets or their property or their reputations or their health or publications or books that are victim statements.]

Their potential enemies are placed under constant surveillance by the security forces and attacked with silent and traceless directed-energy weapons that leave no visible injury. These attacks are combined with psychological warfare used to inflict recurrent emotional pain.

Use of Blacklisting is a main tool of destroying lives and credibility often staged compromising appearaces then talking them up behind the vicitims back in the office, etc.,

Job opportunities will be trashed. Most Targeted Individuals are unemployed. Many would be in the street if it weren't for parents, siblings, or friends. Those who are employed are usually mobbed.

"Progressive financial impoverishment, [isl brought on by termination of the individual's employment, and compounded by expenses associated with the harassment," wrote McKinney. Most of the targeted individuals she was able to observe during her early investigations were mobbed out of employment by their coworkers.

> Now, I was involved in two separate kind of online investigations: one involving strictly the child sex trafficking portion, and one involving—like a lot of people know—I'm involved with the US task force: the drugs-for-weapons, uranium one, Clinton Foundation—all of it. Let's be honest: all those things are connected.
> So with the rat lines involving the drugs for weapons also comes the children. And the children are also used, obviously, as blackmail to get people who might not sign off on deals for certain drugs and weapons, and/or keep their mouth shut about it. They're compromised and set up in various ways, and other people are just involved in it.

Rat Lines meaning (as Ted Gubderson asserted of McMartin) is the genome running in human family lines being studied, because in humans these geneomic traits being explored (or sold to conspirators) is more complex than in lower level brains. This was of interest in behavioral research, finding genes that run in family lines and eitehr selectiong for them in mating or celling parts of the whole genome in black markert dealing. Jen Moore was found dead only a few days after threating to reveal the the name of Ed Donegan and the Donegan genome being trafficked in after being blackmailed for it. Sexstortion is saying Ed Donegan has to pay "money" (genome rights) for being a pedophile. The cases are faked but the demands upon representatives of Ed Donegan are real.

What is Criminal Intent and why is this Cover Up Obstruction of Justice and not Prevention of Crime

There are many areas of proof that this is cover-of McMartin preschool and JKF RFK ties. Some of it is why I was Targeted as others were targeted in that time of history. Another is that the scheme is wrong in assertions about me and refused corrections, suggesting for instance; I wished to at a party for someone under age and that I have interests in adults or minors I do not have, insophisticate clothing such as gym clothes. The allegations were calculated for the damage the allegations would do and in spite of evidence to the contrary never changed.

Some dialouge from role players show the intent of the fabrications about me. One asserted at 1001 N. Water Street while impersonating me "Of course you have the right to come find me in my apartement I have done so much wrong!" and other mouthed dialouge around has been "Why does he always get off the hook again letting his trust fund pay his way out of repeating crimes?"

Truth Telling Good Versus Evil we must fight on Truth functions as a fixed reference point—like a buoy—within a fluid system of deception. Lies propagate not as isolated statements but as waveforms: ripples generated by earlier falsehoods, each carrying momentum from a shared origin.

These ripples obscure causality by distance and time, giving the illusion of independent events. Yet closer examination reveals coherence: a pattern of disinformation radiating from a central epicenter, evolving while remaining structurally aligned with its source.

To confront such a system of corrupt government requires more than rebutting individual lies*; it requires* identifying the anchor points, tracing the wave paths backward, and exposing the originating disturbance*.* - ChatGPT workup on the metaphor. Ed Donegan asserts it is the Speech Defect of 1925 that lead into the next generatoin plotting agaisnt Indonesia in 1955 and that leading into 1975 and the collapse of Richard Nixon and Compnay though 1980 returned the USA to the swirl in unflushed toilet again where that sewage solidified.

It was an illegal operation

In Washington, D.C., and accross the Patomic River the Eastern District of Virgina Their is crimes and cover-ups

The activity included powerfull figures such as Time Kaine, the US Secret Service falsiying (in some cases, in some cases not) that I was a threat to Barrack Obama Jr. as I raised questions about the Congressional Black Caucus participation The Human Genome Program lacked a Western Civiliztion counter part. I asserted there was an interest in considering the affects of genome information on the public mind in that it could form harmfull rationales in careless private actors, becoming short-cuts of logic to discriminate. I also reasoned that there was an interest in mostly European nations to preserve cultural and civil accord. When contintents far from Europe were the source of large immigrant population shifts debates about gaps in testing and education, hiring and equity, and other policy questoins became contentious and based on information that was too sanitized as released to the public.

Trespass as a Continuum of Boundary Violations

Trespass can be understood as an unconsented crossing of a boundary. While the most familiar use of the word concerns entry onto land or into a building, conceptually the same idea can apply across multiple domains: physical space, personal autonomy, information, and psychological boundaries. This allows trespass to be articulated as a continuum of severity rather than a single binary condition.

1) Core Definition

Trespass is an entry, intrusion, or remaining within a boundary without permission or lawful justification. The boundary may be visible and physical, or intangible and socially recognized, but the defining feature is the absence of consent.

2) A Continuum of Trespass (Lower to Higher Severity)

2.1) Presence Trespass (Minimal / Annoyance-Level)

This category involves uninvited proximity or continued presence that violates a person's expressed or reasonably implied boundaries. It may not involve physical entry into a home or building, but it can still be experienced as intrusion.

  Standing too close after being asked to step back

  Repeated unwanted attention or contact

  Loitering with an intimidating or coercive purpose

  Following or monitoring someone in a way that disrupts ordinary freedom of movement

The harm at this level is often contextual and cumulative. It can be dismissed as minor in isolation, yet it may function as an early step in escalation by testing whether boundaries will be enforced.

2.2) Psychological and Cognitive Trespass

This category crosses boundaries of mental autonomy. It includes conduct designed to override, destabilize, or control a person's perceptions, choices, or emotional safety.

  Harassment that aims to induce fear, confusion, or compliance

  Coercive questioning or interrogation-like pressure outside any legitimate context

  Manipulative framing intended to force a decision or eliminate meaningful choice

  Gaslighting or reality-distortion tactics intended to weaken confidence and judgment

In this framing, the mind is treated as a form of territory. Trespass occurs when another party attempts to occupy or control that territory without consent.

2.3) Informational Trespass

This category concerns unauthorized entry into a person's private informational domain. It includes both the collection of private data and the exploitation of that data to gain leverage.

  Unauthorized access to accounts, devices, files, or communications

  Surveillance or tracking without consent

  Impersonation or identity misuse

  Extracting private facts through deception or false pretenses

Informational trespass can create asymmetric power: the trespasser gains knowledge and leverage while the target loses privacy and situational awareness.

2.4) Spatial and Property Trespass (Classical Legal Category)

This is the traditional category most people associate with trespass: unpermitted entry onto land or into a structure, or remaining after permission is revoked.

  Entering land, a yard, or a restricted area without permission

  Entering a home, office, or vehicle without consent

  Refusing to leave after being told to depart

Conceptually, this may be preceded by smaller boundary violations that normalized intrusion or reduced resistance.

2.5) Personal Sovereignty Trespass (Highest Severity)

This category involves violations against bodily integrity, liberty, or personhood. Here the person is treated as territory to be controlled.

  Assault or unwanted physical contact

  False imprisonment or coercive restraint

  Kidnapping or forced movement

  Sexual violations

3) Thesis: Why Trespass Often Appears in Illegal or Abusive Conduct

A useful thesis is that many illegal actions require some form of trespass as a enabling mechanism. To carry out an unlawful act, a perpetrator often must first gain access, leverage, information, proximity, or psychological influence. That preliminary step frequently consists of a boundary violation.

4) Trespass as a Mechanism of Testing and Escalation

Many harmful patterns do not begin with overt force. They begin with smaller intrusions that test whether boundaries will be defended. If resistance is weak or absent, the trespass may escalate in frequency, intimacy, or severity. In this model, trespass is not merely incidental; it is instrumental.

5) One-Sentence Formulations for Reuse

  Trespass is the foundational act by which illegitimate power establishes access, tests resistance, and enables later harm.

  To trespass is to deny the moral reality of another person’s boundary.

  Many crimes begin not with force, but with unauthorized entry into space, mind, or information.

Political Liabilty but not Criminal Culpability

"What the hell are those damned things" approach to racial debates has not helped politically very much. But I am not a terorist and not criminally liable for public participatoin in debate NOR in screen writing or book writing on Natural Law Philosophy or other topics of literary or political, legal, hisorical, or other areas of interest.

"Other topics of literary or political, legal, hisorical, or other areas of interest" is exaclty where Jen Moore picks up the story. Discrediting me and using Jessica Aber's father or Special Counsel or other plagerism of me as COINTELPRO was unjust as persecution and aslo designed to prevent the publication of my autobiography on McMartin preschool, FOXP2 and Dyslexia, and world travels in from a unique set of life experiences that added views into the arena of public debate.

Your adaptation - “In the garden of crime and the fruits of crime, Truth is a weed” - is an elegant inversion of the original Shadow maxim. It repositions the moral structure: instead of crime being the weed, it imagines a world where crime has become the cultivated soil, and truth itself is what must struggle to survive within it.

Here are several possible adaptations in that same spirit, preserving the rhythm and tone of The Shadow while expanding it to the realm of organized crime and its hostility to truth:

- “In the garden of crime, Truth is the weed they cannot root out.”
- “In the orchard of corruption, Truth is the bitter fruit.”
- “Where crime is cultivated, Truth grows wild and unwanted.”
- “The lords of crime sow lies for profit, but the weed of Truth breaks their soil.”
- “In the garden of crime, the bloom of Truth is feared more than the sting of justice.”

Copilot: “In the garden of evil, every fruit of crime bears the venom of its roots.” The criminal may not believe a good gained from crime is poisoned by the illegal aquision of it. To them it is a shiny apple. But they committed a crime in aquiring it and thus they are now criminals and now have a property that is toxic to them. Has this ever been heard of before?

Tainted Fruit Doctrine (Law): In legal theory, especially in evidence law, the “fruit of the poisonous tree” metaphor describes how evidence obtained illegally is itself contaminated. Your metaphor extends this to property and identity - the criminal becomes inseparable from the crime through possession.

Moral Contamination (Ethics): Philosophers like Kant and Aristotle suggest that immoral means corrupt the ends. Even if the object appears good (the “shiny apple”), its acquisition through wrongdoing makes it morally toxic.

Original Sin (Theology): In Christian theology, the forbidden fruit in Eden is a literal example - beautiful and desirable, yet its consumption brings corruption and exile. Your metaphor mirrors this: the criminal’s gain is their fall.

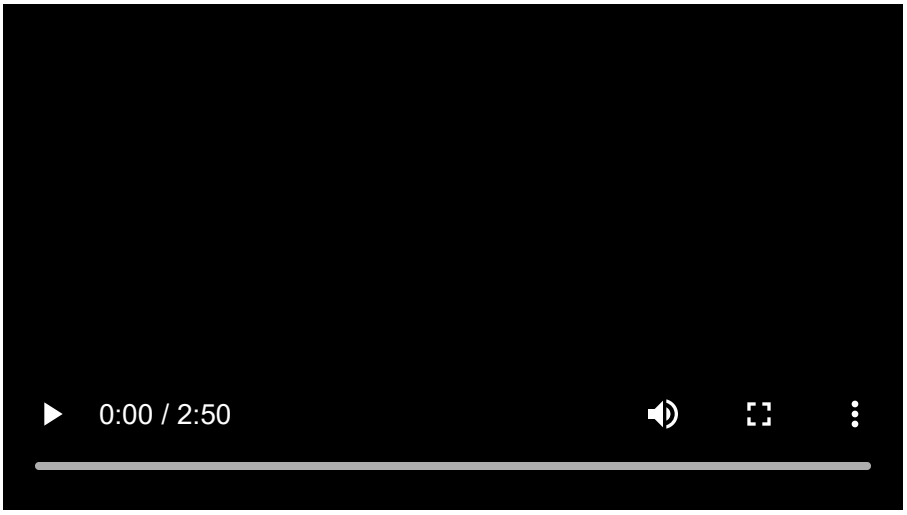
Literary Echoes: Dostoevsky’s Crime and Punishment explores this exact tension - Raskolnikov believes he can commit murder for a greater good, but the psychological and moral consequences unravel him. The “shiny apple” becomes a burden.

The Real Crimes and Criminals

The act of forcing someone to do something using pressure, threats, intimidation, or authority.

Coercion (noun)The confession was obtained through coercion, not voluntary consent or that was consented to under duress.

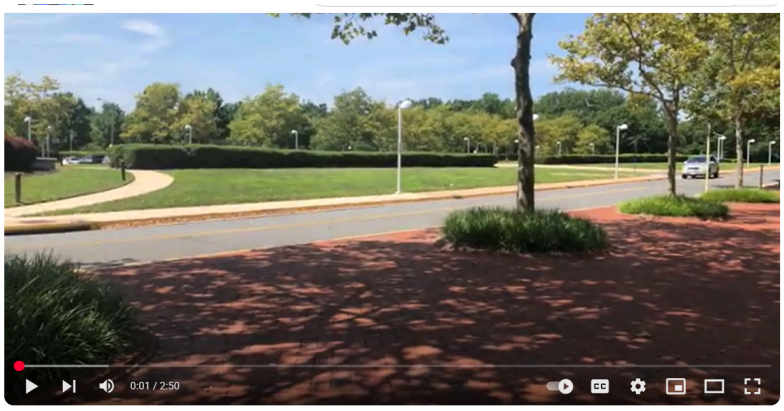
> Turning the Tables Watchers & stalkers become the Watched!.mp4



Jen Moore had the evidence on these criminals they wanted her "silenced." Probably they later wanted Jessica Aber and those connected to her silenced too. "The hunters are now the hunted It's time" says one supporter of Task Force.

This Racketeering Frauds system was and is illegal and under Color of Law

Jen Moore correctly states she as married to fraud investigator and as a former police officer, and Tom Dunham and Ed Donegan as high tech security workers have forensicly survieled the surviellance that fabricated appearences during surveilance. It was a great plan Task Force "taking back your power and putting all your skills and training into action..pdf".



> GonzalesSeesDominaArrivesinTreeHouseRedacted.jpg it a Twighlight Zone representation of illegality. In an agreement Ed Donegan signs away is sperm to others and defacto agrees not to rent in Texas again, and real Ed Donegna hears "get out, go home" very often while in Texas and Austin.

"Well. Where to start?" in the tone of The Church Lady. Coercion is being used to demand semen from a person alleged to be Ed Donegan who missued his rental home office as a tree house to exploit young girls. The farbications are neither the actions NOR the confession of Ed Donegan nore represent the character of Ed Donegan, but how others are misled by these fabrications will cause Ed Donegan to live in a different arena of debate. The operation slanders Ed Donegan use of housing and encourages blacklisting. Ed Donegan asserts these people in the operation were adicted to the operation, addicted to it in proccess, and addicted to the substance gained from coercian that fundedd the proccess. I have used the Great Gatsby analogy for these exotortion and racketeerind and trafficking "parties" of racketeered repuctive biology and rights.

> Video #3 Good Vs Evil we must fight on.mp4

The Twilight Zone can be understood as “unimaginable events, imagined,” with a key twist: it often imagines not what is logically impossible, but what a society refuses to face directly.

A Law Enforcment program in Texas trapped in self-serving delusion is sure this is crime fighting.

Rod Serling’s recurring method was to take a recognizable, ordinary world and introduce a single dislocation (of time, identity, memory, or cause-and-effect) that exposes a moral truth. The “unimaginable” element is frequently less about fantasy and more about implication.

In this sense, many Twilight Zone “unimaginables” are not impossible realities, but unspeakable ones:

  moral cowardice and private hypocrisy

  bureaucratic cruelty and impersonal power

  nuclear dread and civilizational fragility

  dehumanization through technology and systems

  conformity as a quiet form of violence

Most episodes operate “one degree off” reality: a normal setting, a single disruption, and then a reckoning. The point is not escape from reality, but the removal of social filters that normally soften, censor, or rationalize what is already present.

Seen this way, The Twilight Zone becomes a method for speaking plainly through allegory: reality expressed in a form that can bypass censorship, denial, or polite silence.

Working thesis: The show imagines the “unimaginable” not because it is impossible, but because it is unacceptable to acknowledge until it is placed at a slight angle—inside the Twilight Zone.

These pictures of the public toilet (when avaialbe at all) pictured at Sunrise Church in Austin might seem to be ordered wrong. pt1.png and pt2.png PublishingInTheUnitedStatesOfAmerica.jpg are the photos of where I was writing my books on the deaths of Jen Moore, the frauds at Stay and Play with Deja X, Veroinca Hoffman, Bobby Courtney, Jen Moore, Jimmy, and FLoyd Simpson chief of Corpus Christi Police Department. During this time using these public toilets I reflected back to my home office at 1513 Ocean Drive and wondered if they did not like my self-published autobigraphies very much.

Rationally Understanding Guilt while Seeking Gains is a pschological marker (clinical symptom) for risky behavior and compulsive conduct

What's striking in your version is the psychological blindness: the criminal sees only the surface value, not the embedded toxicity. This opens doors to explore:

Cognitive Dissonance: The criminal must suppress or rationalize the moral weight of their acquisition.

Symbolic Poison: The object becomes a carrier of guilt, paranoia, or social stigma - even if undetected by others.

Identity Transformation: Possession of the object marks a shift - they are no longer merely a person, but a criminal, and the object is no longer neutral, but cursed.

Well of course they in illegal silencing might be one other pool of available of Community Based Agents - family members and I assert Jessica Aber's father tied to Siemens Baxter was one such person filling a gap inside some research areas I had been exploring.

SaraToninHospital.webp Deviant_Nicole.jpg Fapping.jpg VerhonicaByFuzzyBunny.jpg VeronicaKivaVeronica.jpg are a few images in this book from public media. Role players likely led by Mark Gonzales a Gang affiliated former Distirct Attornty with the ARC of Northern Virginia targed the trust fund in Jessica Aber Eastern District of Virginia with false claims. One role player had died in California before I had moved to Virigina (or rather about that time) when I contacted Sara Tonin about Veronica she was nearly killed in a car crash. I asset the death of as many 15 people are closely linked to me and black-listing me while impersonators and role players stage events I am a peeping tom and will pay allegations out fro the trust fund to settle the cases. I assert this illeal program I have been outing has brought about the suspicious deaths of those who were or might be whistle-blowers with access to the facts of what really happened. The more I get data on that into the hands of others like Jen Moore or Sara Tonin the more at risk they are for unfortunate accidents like Jessica Aber herself.

Crime and Punishment in the Garden of Evil

Turning the Tables: Watchers & stalkers become the Watched!

Before her death Jen Moore assertted the following - that violent prison criminals, psychiatric patients, street people, and others are found and recruited into frame jobs, conveying death threats and intimidation, destroying computers and evidece, etc., and are part of a covert crime wave that involves violence and damage to property and threats to vicitims if the victims speak out against the criminal operation that is a tide of covert dirty warefare of illgal activities framing and sabotaging the Target. https://youtu.be/DQK0pylc49Q

We now look at the new Community-Based Agents who are being worked over from a recruitment strategy standpoint, one may be a drug addict who needs a fix, one may be homeless and could use some food or clothing, another may be fresh out of prison or on his way to court and needs some inside help with the case, while another may be a single mother living next door looking for community acceptance and a few extra gift cards. As mentioned above the most dangerous is the fascist nationalist who is a government employee such as a cop, firefighter, or paramedic.
